Academic & Professional Achievements

- Participated in a collaborative effort to write and publish, Defending Wild Washington, Mountaineers Publishing Company April 24, 2004, a book about preservation and restoration of wilderness areas in Washington State.
- Developed a detailed report of forest management options for the Skokomish Indian Reservation's Director of Natural Resources. The report influenced land management decisions on reservation land.
- Within the first two months of working at Trader Joe's I received a recommendation from at least three managers to apply for management and throughout my time there, management regularly recommended that I join their team.
- For all four of my reviews at Trader Joe's I received exemplary marks for striving to go above and beyond expectations in the three scored criteria of Productivity, Teamwork, and Customer Experience.
- While at Skydive Elsinore, a customer specifically mentioned me by name in a complementary review on dropzone.com, the industry's leading community website.
